

Objective : Develop a Shabbat program to build an all-inclusive, all-embracing Shir Hadash community where members of all ages and all levels want to be a part. Includes Jewish Culture and Traditions (Dance, Music & Food), Jewish History and of course, Jewish Education		Harvesting (Assessing each idea to reach our Objective)
Concepts	Ideas	Impact (3 = High, 1 = Low)	Do-Ability (3 = Easy, 1 = Hard)	Score
Concept 45: Ways to reduce costs by eliminating configurations from dev with sub-standard sales	visit Jewish businesses go to Jewish tourist spots (i.e. Newport Rhode Island Synagogue) Community outreach with members at other temples Different family members bringing in Jewish treasures or items to show to each other interviewing family members, asking specific questions regarding G-d and/or spirituality seeing different generations by role playing address green environmental issues through Judaism seating should be in the round at services offsite cultural exchange with Mahareshi grop in Fairfield, Iowa reverse view of Young teaching the "Old" where kids lead the songs and prayers international discussion on money-related stereotypes associated with Jews Kibbutz and organic farming experience create a mosaic art exhibit and/or visit an art museum Bring in local artists to discuss art & Judaism Conduct Israeli wine tasting Discussion groups to explore how Jews are perceived Travel program with the Rabbi Create a session with older people where they can share stories of when they grew up (i.e. "when I was young") to share how things were different / same when they grew up as a Jew start a community cleanup program Buy a used cruise ship and make that our temple on the weekends and provide tours during off hours to generate revenue create a game (Treasure Hunt) where we find people who are important to our faith and learn about them create a program of outreach to breakthrough labels and stereotypes draw in other cultures (Jewish & non-Jewish) within our community ask our older children to teach as teaching "opens the mind" for both teacher & student create meaningful jewelry items as symbols to wear pair up young and old to help them teach each other to "see" what they would not have seen on their own Bring in Israeli soldiers as speakers, see how they train, how they cope with time while away from family Create a game of "life" celebrating Judaism create a mural that captures the weekly portion from the Torah Create a Shabbat for those with special needs

	Celebrate the bar/bat mitzvahs in the classrooms (shared experience with classmates)
	Create artworks and sculptures Have an outdoor service at the beach session about the book "the bible code" and explore how & what the jewish community believes about the book Create a program to interview grandparents to preserve their family history walking a straight line vs alternative approaches to Judaism talk about the vibrancy of shabbat to explore all the ways to view it video tape a shabbat service to put in a time capsule to be viewed by future generations jewish wine tasting have someone come in and teach Krav Maga (Israeli martial art) to our congregation take trips as a synagogue (shabbat cruise) incorporate many different colors in dress for shabbat in the clothes of other countries Create a game to explore the ways in which jewish & non-jewish people are more the same than different create a Shabbat Blog Create a virtual Shabbat experience and draw in college members create a field trip to look at Chicago's Jewish treasures (Spertus, synagogues, mikvahs, kosher butcher) setup varied locations for shared Shabbat meals do a sleep "under" where everyone wears their PJs, do storytelling and serve breakfast compare & contrast how different generations experience Judaism (grandparents / grandchild dinners) calendar of monthly SH events & shared events with other groups Israeli food tasting with Israeli dance for grandparents & grandchildren Team up with another congregation to hold a Purim carnival Do a Jewish poetry slam

Ways to build Internal Community	Family havurot program that meets for Sat. activities
Ways to build Internal Community	family education series where an educator is brought in to teach
Ways to build Internal Community	Progressive shabbat dinners travelling between family's homes
Ways to build Internal Community	Family Kallahs (retreats, camping trips)
Ways to build Internal Community	Dinner & movie with Jewish theme
Ways to build Internal Community	Family field trips
Ways to share ideas	Create a pass along from family to family video of home Friday night services
Ways to share ideas	Start a temple book club
Ways to create shared experiences away from our temple	plan family (membership) outings of Jewish significance to experience and learn from
Ways to create shared experiences away from our temple	Meet with families from other temples to learn and share experiences
Ways to create shared experiences away from our temple	develop and implement family Tikkun Olam (long-term) projects
Ways to create shared experiences away from our temple	Go on a tour of other temples
Ways to create shared experiences away from our temple	Meet with families from Israel to learn and share experiences
Ways to build External experiences	family groups that adopt empty nesters into group
Ways to build External experiences	adopt a grandparent program
Ways to promote Family Education	Family mitzvah projects done by family havurot
Ways to learn more about the scope of Judaism	have kids learn how different cultures deliverate shabbat and teach this to the rest of the congregation
Ways to learn more about the scope of Judaism	shabbat foods from different Jewish cultures (cook & share)
Ways to engage more Congregational Participation	Create lessons from the weekly parsha to children to pull them in Ways to engage more Congregational Participation	include storytelling at Shabbat services
Ways to build community among a specific age group	create a tween shabbat
Ways to promote Jewish education history to explore cultures & cultural experiences	hold "themed" shabbat services (i.e. South American shabbat services)
Ways to generate ideas from the younger generation	Ask students to list ideas of things they like to do on shabbat
Ways to build experiential meaning to shabbat through art	Take home shabbat kit (prayers, challah cover, candles, ...)

Ways to build experiential meaning to shabbat through art	Have kids create art work that is usable for shabbat (kepot, challah covers tzedukah box)
Ways to build excitement and reward	produce a shabbat music CD to be given to students
Ways to build excitement and reward	do a shabbat raffle where the winner gets a challah, bottle of sparkling grape juice & a home made dessert (all for shabbat)
Ways to create meaningful new experiences	Jewish cooking class for the whole family
Ways to create meaningful new experiences	bring in a given speaker to the school on Sundays
Ways to create meaningful new experiences	hold events at the Bookstore about Jewish History
Ways to build community through fun activities	create a family shabbat and game night
Ways to build community through fun activities	bring in music from current Israeli music groups or singers
Ways to Incorporate younger generation's experiences (develop new traditions)	teenagers and younger kids present "what being jewish" means to me.
Ways to Incorporate younger generation's experiences (develop new traditions)	have some kids share what it's like being the only Jewish kid and others can share what it's like being in a school of almost all Jewish kids
Ways to Incorporate younger generation's experiences (develop new traditions)	invite different families to homes for family shabbat dinners. Include themes or facets of shabbat
Ways to promote intergenerational learning and teaching	offer older kids to create a shabbat for younger kids
Ways to promote intergenerational learning and teaching	starting a family choir (kids & adults)
Ways to add meaning through guest speakers	Have Bev Lieberman offer storytelling services for group shabbat gatherings
Ways to incorporate older generation's experiences (develop new traditions)	talking about ancestors and where family members immigrated from
Ways to incorporate older generation's experiences (develop new traditions)	Have older members of Jewish community speak at services about growing up "jewish" in different countries or chicago locations
Ways to build community by learning more about each other	bring "show & tell" items to school (family heirlooms, family members, ...)
Ways to build community through shared dinners	Set Friday nights for Shir Hadash members to host other members for dinner
Ways to share experiences	Different families are given a "goal" to report back highlights of their experiences to a larger group.
Ways to share experiences	Do a group JAM session for all to play their instruments
Ways to share experiences	Invite families to conduct a service on a Friday night
Ways to bring in new thinking and ideas from guest speakers	bring in guest speakers from the community (educators, musicians, artists)
Ways to bring in new thinking and ideas from guest speakers	public reading from jewish history followed by a discussion
Ways to add meaning through outreach using community service	Friday challah delivery done by volunteers
Ways to explore different forms of music	Interpretive shabbats through different forms of artistic expression (i.e. jewish ideas as expressed in popular music, modern day composers)

[illegible]

[illegible]