WHO WE ARE

With over 28,000 Members, 226 Corporate Members and 112 Chapters, International Institute of Business Analysis™ (IIBA®) is the recognized, non-profit association for business analysis (BA) professionals around the world.

As the voice of the BA community, IIBA supports the recognition of the profession, and works to maintain standards for the practice and certification. Through a global network, IIBA connects Members, Chapters, corporations and partners around the world to advance the BA profession by uniting a community of professionals to create better business outcomes.

To unite a community of professionals to create better business outcomes.

UNITING A COMMUNITY

In the last 12 years, IIBA has flourished into the leading global non-profit association for the BA community. Through a global network, IIBA connects 28,232 Members, 112 Chapters, 226 Corporate Members and partners.

We have a committed, dedicated community who believes in the power of uniting and building the profession and our association. In March 2014, we developed our new core purpose to reflect who we are and where we are going: to unite a community of professionals to create better business outcomes.

It is remarkable to see the positive impact and the power of collaboration. Over the last year, our organization has undergone major transformation. With over a decade of growth, learning and success, IIBA selected a new President and CEO last year. From engaging our stakeholders to examining our business model to building our new strategic plan, we are building on the successes of the past and making tremendous strides forward. As a Member of the IIBA Board, I am extremely proud of the process that we have been through.

We have listened closely to the needs of the community and we have developed a new strategic plan that allows IIBA to capture new opportunities that will provide enhanced value, support and leadership.

In July 2014, the Membership elected a new slate of international Directors and I was thrilled to take on the role as Chair. I would like to take the opportunity to thank Indy Mitra for her leadership, dedication and passion. Indy has been involved in IIBA in a variety of roles since the organization was launched, including Chair, past Chair and founding Member.

It is a time of excitement and focus for IIBA. There is no doubt that this is our time to continue to build an even stronger organization globally, and I know the IIBA Board is committed to continuing the delivery of the essential action needed.

While IIBA continues to grow its reach, its support for the community and the recognition for the profession, we know that there is still a significant opportunity to do more. We are strong and focused on our commitment to “unite a community of professionals to create better business outcomes”. Thank you for your support, dedication and continued commitment.

~ Michael Augello, Chair of the Board

CONNECT. COLLABORATE. UNITE.

The theme of our annual report is connect, collaborate and unite. This theme truly reflects 2014, and the exciting path we are on. When I joined IIBA in March 2014, I realized that our global connectivity was one of the greatest strengths of our growing organization.

Just as BA professionals do, IIBA understands that we must provide leading-edge innovative solutions and tools for our stakeholders. We launched a new strategic plan that provides the framework to guide the organization’s direction and the necessary action over the next three years. Our strategic plan showcases our commitment to you, and highlights how we will continue to reshape the future.

We needed to ensure the organization had a solid foundation that would allow us to move forward efficiently and effectively in order to innovate IIBA and our industry and remain the industry leader. We reorganized the structure of IIBA and welcomed new staff to enhance the support across the organization.

With new resources for Chapters and Members and new defined portfolios for products and services, IIBA has built the necessary underpinning to support the successful implementation of the strategic plan.

Over the last year, the engagement with the corporate community has accelerated. Our corporate membership program grew significantly and we began to engage the broader business community. Businesses are looking to IIBA to be their strategic partner, resource and leader.

Volunteers are the strength of our global organization. IIBA is grateful for their commitment, support and ongoing dedication. Since the inception of IIBA, volunteers have dedicated their time to support and connect the BA community. We look forward to building on the connections, the collaborations and the unity.

Today, we are stronger, better positioned for the future and solid in our commitments to capture the opportunities ahead. Thank you for your ongoing commitment. We look forward to reshaping the future of IIBA with you.

Welcome to our first-ever annual report. I encourage you to review the accomplishments of 2014, which are setting the organization up for a strong and vibrant future.

~ Stephen Ashworth, President & CEO

RESHAPING THE FUTURE New Strategic Plan

2014 was a year of significant transition as IIBA worked to reshape the association for future growth. We listened closely to the needs of the Members, Chapters and the BA community and in November 2014, IIBA was pleased to announce the launch of a new strategic plan.

This new strategic plan is key to the future success of IIBA and provides the framework to guide the organization's direction and the necessary action over the next three years. The new strategic plan focuses on building greater value to BA professionals and the business community.

Five pillars transforming the value and impact of IIBA

The new strategic plan focuses on the following five new pillars, and will support the transformation of the value and impact of IIBA:

GLOBAL GOLD STANDARD CERTIFICATION FOR BA PROFESSIONALS

- IIBA's certifications are the globally recognized standard. IIBA will transform our certification program with the development of a new gold standard certification. The new program will support the delivery of life-long learning by establishing curriculum and testing that will allow for different levels of certification.

COLLABORATIVE CHAPTER MODEL

- IIBA will work with Chapters to develop a flexible, sustainable global model to help further provide a local voice, to build networking and mentoring opportunities, to support local outreach, and to support the creation of special events and activities. IIBA will work with Chapters to develop a new engagement model and enhanced volunteer management.

VALUE ADD RELATIONSHIPS @ SENIOR LEVELS IN ORGANIZATIONS

- By building relationships with corporations and offering products, services and connections, IIBA will help organizations deliver a strong BA practice and gain enhanced organizational success. In expanding our support and value to corporations, IIBA will provide research, best practices, and other valuable products that will improve business outcomes.

LEVERAGE A NETWORK OF COMPLEMENTARY ASSOCIATIONS

- In order to expand the reach of BA professionals, IIBA will connect beyond our own community. Bringing together the memberships of allied associations, management associations and IIBA will ensure the integration of an industry knowledge base, thought leadership across the different specialities and an expanded portfolio of products and services.

ENCOMPASS FULL SCOPE OF BUSINESS ANALYSIS DISCIPLINE

- IIBA is committed to developing and defining an expanded BA career space to include a more comprehensive and holistic view of the discipline. IIBA will support professionals in a variety of roles, and will develop a strategy to expand the BA career space by building relationships with academic and educational institutions, launching mentorship programs and supporting career path planning.

OPERATIONAL EXCELLENCE

- In addition to the five pillars, the strategic plan is built with an overarching focus of operational excellence, including strengthening technology, customer service and internal support.

LEADING-EDGE PRODUCTS & SERVICES

As a Member of IIBA, BA professionals gain extensive access to insight, knowledge and support. IIBA helps its Members create a path to a better career by offering access to services that will help them grow a variety of professional skills and prepare for their leadership advancement.

Building the Essential Standard for Business Analysis

In 2014, IIBA launched the international public review of A Guide to the Business Analysis Body of Knowledge® (BABOK® Guide) v3. BABOK® Guide v3 incorporates the collective wisdom, experience and feedback of 150 contributors in the field from around the world.

Practitioners from around the world were committed to sharing their views and shaping the new publication. There were over 260,000 hits to the public review site, and over 5,500 people registered and participated in the public review of BABOK® Guide v3.

BABOK® Guide v3 expands the vision of business analysis and positions business analysis professionals as key drivers of strategic change in organizations. BABOK® Guide v3 will quickly become an essential part of the business analysis toolkit and will be critical to the success of all aspects of an organization.

“The global business analysis community has been eagerly awaiting the release of BABOK® Guide v3. In 2015, IIBA will release the most comprehensive guide for the global BA community, which will be the essential resource to help practitioners deliver business value and create better business outcomes.”

~ Stephen Ashworth - President and CEO, IIBA

IIBA Certification: Recognizing Achievement in Business Analysis

IIBA is dedicated to the development and maintenance of standards for the practice of business analysis, and for the certification and recognition of practitioners. We were the first organization to offer a formal BA certification and we have continued to grow programs to support the recognition of achievement.

Practitioners around the world continue to see significant value in the many benefits that earning an IIBA designation offers. Whether you are new to the profession or are a senior BA professional, IIBA offers recognition and certification programs to help you improve your skills, profile your knowledge and capabilities and further build your career in today's competitive market.

In fact, in 2014, there were 4,983 Certified Business Analysis Professional™ (CBAP®) recipients and 722 Certification of Competency in Business Analysis™ (CCBA®) recipients.

Last year, IIBA connected its Members to over 272 Endorsed Education Providers (EEP™) and nine Academic Recognition Members. Through our partnership with these organizations, IIBA Members were able to continually develop and build their skills in order to advance their career.

Providing Leading-Edge Knowledge and Support

One of the key areas of value for IIBA Members is gaining access to the latest industry knowledge and resources.

From webinars, to events, to Quick Tips and Best Practices, IIBA offers its Members the tools and resources necessary to succeed and provide solutions to the organizations they work for.

Through participation in IIBA Members-only webinars, attendees learned from leading industry experts. In 2014, IIBA offered 42 webinars, which reached over 12,756 attendees. Webinars focused on important and relevant topics, including agile, requirements analysis, business process management and business intelligence.

Uniting and Showcasing the BA Discipline and Role

IIBA presented the results of the 2013 Business Analysis Salary Survey in February 2014. This survey was completed by over 2,000 business analysis professionals from more than 60 countries.

Coming in 2015

- IIBA will launch BABOK® Guide v3 and provide the community with the essential standard for BA.
- A new, enhanced certification program focused on competency will be announced.
- IIBA will partner with leading research organizations to deliver case studies, research and learning opportunities to support the BA community.
- IIBA will launch the Enterprise Business Analysis Core Competency (EBACC) Assessment Framework.
- New tools, resources and education opportunities will be provided to IIBA Members.
- Strategic partnerships will be announced with complimentary professional associations and corporations.

CONNECTING A GLOBAL COMMUNITY

During 2014, IIBA built on the overall alignment and structure of the global organization. After 12 years of ongoing growth, IIBA embarked on an exciting journey focused on bringing enhanced value for its Members, Chapters and the entire community.

From new product offerings, to enhanced certification, to a stronger brand profile and new IT infrastructure, IIBA is transforming the organization to focus on providing greater value and support.

Creating a Scalable Foundation for the Future

Key to these changes is the launch of a new portfolio structure. With this new structure, IIBA is ensuring key areas across the organization are resourced and managed in a comprehensive manner. The new portfolio areas include:

- Chapters and Member Services
- Product Management and Development
- Information Technology
- Corporate and Business Development
- Support Services (Marketing, Communications, HR, Finance)

As part of the organizational changes, IIBA added new resources dedicated to Chapters, Members, Communications and Information Technology.

BBC: Driving Business Innovation

In 2014, over 1,400 business analysis professionals gathered in Fort Lauderdale, Florida for the annual Building Business Capability (BBC™) conference. As the official conference of IIBA, BBC provided attendees with the opportunity to learn and network with their colleagues from around the world. Attendees gained insights, leading-edge knowledge, and examined issues and opportunities of most importance to BA professionals. For more information, visit iiba.org/bbc.

Partnering for a Global Connection

In 2014, IIBA launched a very exciting partnership with the BA Times to provide BA professionals with access to leading-edge resources and knowledge. By providing the latest articles, videos, tips, best practices and tools, IIBA and BA Times are making it easy for professionals to gain instant access to the information they need to be successful. Visit batimes.com to explore the new online portal.

Building an Online Community

IIBA is working to develop new innovative tools for Members. Last year, IIBA undertook the development of a new online IIBA Community Site to provide practitioners with even more opportunities to get involved. The new site connects practitioners from around the world by allowing Members to participate in conversations, share their opinions and join forums.

In 2014, IIBA developed the new Pharma/Biotech Special Interest Group (SIG). Unlike IIBA Chapters which are geographically based and span all industries, a SIG is a virtual community of Members focusing on business analysis within a specific industry.

Coming in 2015:

- IIBA will launch a refreshed Corporate Membership framework.
- IIBA will embark on a new Global Tour. The Tour will take place in 50 locations and will allow the Senior Leadership Team and Board to connect with local IIBA Members, Chapters, Corporations, government and academia.
- IIBA will offer new engagement opportunities through the launch of the new Community Site.
- BBC 2015 is taking place in Las Vegas and will bring professionals together in the Pursuit of Business Excellence.
- IIBA will develop a new global events model to provide even greater value to Members.
